Longtime Dorsey Trailer employee named facility's new plant manager

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Elba-based manufacturer Dorsey Trailer announces the promotion of longtime employee Kenneth Brooks to Plant Manager.

Brooks began serving in August as the interim plant manager, and he was named plant manager in November.

"I have been employed with Dorsey for 26 years and have seen and worked with many employees and plant managers," said Dorsey Trailer president Trey Gary. "Kenneth Brooks is the cream of the crop. If there ever was a story of perseverance and patience, he is it."

Brooks began working with Dorsey in October 2009 as a welder on the line, but he quickly moved up to line supervisor. After several years of hard work and dedication, he eventually was named assistant plant manager.

Gary said Brooks had been involved with and worked in every department at Dorsey in some way or another throughout his years of employment, and he was learning and gaining knowledge all along the way.

"When his time came to be named plant manager, Kenneth was not only ready but rose to the occasion and excelled," Gary said.

Joseph Scott, assistant vice president at Dorsey, said he has worked with a lot of people over the years at Dorsey, but Kenneth is by far the brightest and hardest working employee he has ever encountered.

"He is an extremely loyal employee and has always put Dorsey and its employees ahead of himself," Scott said.

Brooks also has played a key role in the engineering department, according to Scott, by helping that department with areas to improve the fit and function of Dorsey trailers. Since being named interim plant manager, he has not only improved all areas of Dorsey's manufacturing, but he also has increased efficiency of building trailers...building trailers at lower man hours that ever before in the company's history.

Scott further noted that the Dorsey team has rallied around Brooks as the new plant manager with all working as a team in implementing his ideas and work

The Elba community cheered the Elba Tigers football team Monday night, Dec. 4, as the players, coaches and managers were part of the 2023 Christmas Parade. The Tigers season ended last Friday night in the Class 1A semifinals. Above, senior kicker Alex Wisecup (right) waves to cheering fans as the team's float made its way along the parade route. Wisecup was ranked as high as second in the nation this football season on one stats site among kickers for successful PAT attempts. He was a large part of the team's overall success this season. "It's a Hallmark Christmas!" seemed fitting for Elba's Christmas Parade Grand Marshal entry Monday night, Dec. 4, as Charles and Becky Hayes (pictured above) were transported through the city on a beautiful horse-drawn carriage. The Hayes' seemed to have a jolly time as they ushered the Christmas season into their hometown. The Elba Christmas Parade is sponsored each year by the Elba Chamber of Commerce on behalf of the City of Elba. This year's event was quite spectacular with over 70 entries. See more photos from the parade on Pages 8 & 9 of today's paper.

Renowned concert pianist set to provide free concert Saturday evening at the Elba Theatre

Boston-based concert pianist Miki Sawada is traveling across Alabama Dec. 1-14 with her own piano as part of the Gather Hear Tour, and Elba is on the tour list.

Sawada will give a free public concert Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Elba Theatre beginning at 7 p.m., presented by Restoration 154.

In total, Sawada will perform nine free public concerts in seven towns and cities across the state, and also visit local public schools and Alabama prisons. Through the Gather Hear Tour, Sawada is on a mission to perform in all 50 states, inspiring human connection across political and socio-economic divides.

The project was launched in 2017 in Alaska, and has since reached thousands in West Virginia, Utah, Massachusetts, and Louisiana. The idea of Gather Hear came to Sawada a week after the 2016 presidential election, when she - a Japanese native who immigrated to America - despaired over the reality of a divided country. She looked for ways to use classical music to understand our country better through concerts that are personal, intimate, and welcoming to all.

By taking classical music outside of formal concert halls and into "everyday" spaces, presenting it in a friendly and inclusive manner, Sawada aims to break down typical barriers of entry to classical music and create occasions for us to experience a shared humanity.

Gather Hear's success relies on partnerships with local organizations. In Alabama, Sawada collaborates with arts or social service organizations who are passionate about making positive change in their local communities.

"It has been such a joy to plan this tour, learning about all these Alabama organizations who are doing incredible and inspiring work, often fighting odds against them," Sawada said. "The people who run these organizations have been enthusiastic and grateful that I'm bringing music to their communities, and I feel like they're already my friends."

Sawada's concert program features African American composers alongside Europeans, interspersed with poetry readings that reflect Alabama. This tour is made possible in part by a grant from Alabama State Council on the Arts. Gather Hear Alabama is a project of Gather Hear, Inc., a 501(c)3 non-profit organization whose mission is to deliver professional

"You can't have everything. Where would you put it?" – Steven Wright

Italy's 'leaning tower' has stood tipsily – but steadily – for nearly 1,000 years. But now, the days of the Garisenda tower in Bologna, Italy, could be numbered. Experts have noted the 'lean' is increasing at a faster rate than previously and cracks are appearing in the foundation. Repairs are not an option anymore. The government has started constructing a barrier around the projected path of the falling structure to hopefully prevent damage to surrounding buildings.

Our "thankful" column during the Thanksgiving edition of The Elba Clipper attracted some positive comments, for which we are grateful. However, with the space limitations of the printed word, we left out so many events for which we will be forever thankful that we have the urge to go around expressing apologies for the omissions. So if you are one of those who expressed 'thanks' and our reaction seemed less than enthusiastic, it is because of our guilt for the omissions.

Earthquakes are usually followed by after-shocks. However, scientists have recently . . . with a straight face . . . said that modern day earthquakes are actually after-shocks of earthquakes that occurred in the 1800s. We are not in a position to argue that statement with any facts, or even acceptable scoffing but . . . we kinda look at those scientists out of the corner of our eyes and wonder exactly what they are drinking!

Former South Carolina Gov. Nikki Haley is probably correct in citing the need for long range changes in the Social Security and Medicare programs but she is skating on thin ice. As most politicians will tell you, just the slightest misstep in explaining her ideas for such reform could be the death of her campaign for president. While it is hard to not support changes that will keep the programs from running out of money, most voters are defensive of anything that will disrupt their SS checks and/or their government supported medical insurance program. Haley's campaign is surging as she continues to 'say the right things' but talking about changing the two above government programs is like having a tiger by the tail, regardless of the reality of them facing the ultimate issue of running out of money.

The Elba Christmas parade Monday night was a success. What struck us most was not the number of entries but the Christmas lights and other holiday related details added to the many entries. It was encouraging to see that area citizens were demonstrating an upbeat attitude coming into the annual celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ.

The robocalls have not stopped, but thankfully have slowed down. Some of those folks finally got the word that 'don't call us, we will call you.' Hopefully when the deadline passes this week for Medicare enrollment the rest of these folks will stop calling us. Of course, there is one bunch offering us GREAT burial insurance, and the only thing that stops them is our death . . . or theirs!

Cuzin Lou Lou's Tales from Yonder
Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

Santa might not bring Papa coal for Christmas, but the jury is still out on whether Cuzin Lou Lou and Sister will fill his stocking with it!

Both Lou Lou and Sister woke up one morning last week the victims of a nasty stomach bug...it would end up knocking them both out of commission for around three days with lingering weakness for a few more days. Fortunately, both are feeling better as of this writing!

As for Papa...well, just as Lou Lou and Sister began their first and most miserable day with the illness – both had already realized work was a no-go that day, Papa decides to take off and go visiting! Over the next several hours, both

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's tales are to be enjoyed as a light-hearted form of Southern expression

Lou Lou and Sister suffered through the ill-effects of their symptoms, neither able to help the other as they were victimized by the bug.

By early afternoon, Lou Lou managed to dial Papa's phone number to give him a call.

As a cheery Papa answered the call, the voice on the other end was not quite as cheery, and Papa knew right away things at home were far worse than he imagined when he left earlier in the day.

"We need Ginger Ale and Sprite," was all Lou Lou said.

Papa knew by the sound of that request that things had really gone south since his departure, and he assured Lou Lou that he would be home soon with the requested items.

To Papa's defense, he did do a good job of 'taking care' of his girls after he realized the seriousness of the situation. He kept both supplied with Ginger Ale and/or Sprite for the remainder of that day, and he managed to get each to eat a piece of dry toast the next morning.

By afternoon of day two, Papa was hoping both would be ready for something more substantial to eat, but with each and every – "Want to try this or that?" – Answer: NO

By day three, the horizon looked much prettier as both Lou Lou and Sister decided they were going to beat the bug after all, but neither was ready to run any races until a few more days later. Actually, if we are being completely honest, they aren't really planning to run a race even on their best days, but you get the picture...they were feeling much, much better.

As for 'ole Papa...well, he escaped getting the virus. He did feel a little under the weather for a couple of days, but that just turned out to be seasonal sinus problems.

Now, several days later, the running joke at the Yonder Gang's house is that Papa might better be looking for coal in his stocking from his daughters since he abandoned them during the time they needed him most. Of course, his objection is that he did not realize the two were "that sick" or he would have never left them that day.

Both Lou Lou and Sister have decided to give him a little forgiveness there since he did come in clutch the remainder of the time they were sick. So...he might be okay after all...as in, socks instead of coal in that stocking. Only time will tell!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

How to Get Through the Holiday Season After the Loss of a Loved One - Blend Old Traditions with New Ones

For many people, Christmas is a favorite holiday full of many traditions. Whatever the holiday is, the first time it comes around after losing a loved one will definitely be different. With your loved one gone, the traditions just won't feel the same. Many people report they don't feel like celebrating much at all saying it just feels wrong to continue with the festivities when their loved one isn't there to participate.

If you do feel like you want to continue to celebrate it can be helpful to start blending old and new traditions together. There will likely be some traditions you want to continue, either because they are important to other family members, or because you feel like you can honor your loved one through the tradition. Other traditions you may wish to change.

Also, you will likely want to create some new traditions, particularly ones that honor and help you remember your loved one. For example, you might choose to hang up a new ornament on the tree that memorializes your loved one, or maybe you will choose to visit their grave site on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day.

It may also be that you want to switch the location of where you spend the holidays, either out of necessity if the person who used to host has passed away or because a change of venue will help ease some of your painful memories. Either way, make a thoughtful decision about where you would like to spend your holiday.

Once you have made some decisions about what traditions you want to keep or change, make sure to let everyone know your plans well in advance. Remember that other people may be grieving too, so it's best not to spring any big changes on them either at the last minute, if possible. Be honest. If there is something you want to do or something you don't want to do, be clear. Explain your reasoning as best as possible. Hopefully you will be able to come to an agreement.

It's also important to remember that not everyone will be grieving the same way you are. Not everyone will want to spend the holidays the same way you do. The best you can do is try to compromise and realize you may have to do some things on your own if you can't come to an agreement.

Christmas Traditions

We all have Christmas traditions that bring back memories from years past all while making new ones.

The Elba Christmas Parade has become a new tradition for my family since moving to Elba in 2020. Like many of you, we also look forward to the Trawick Christmas lights in Enterprise, seasonal treats, family gatherings, and Christmas programs at church. Sometimes we forget how much we love our traditions until something prevents us from enjoying them.

Each year, my mother would by an ornament for each of her children to hang on the Christmas tree while they lived at home. When Christmas was over, that ornament and all my other ornaments, whether previously gifted or made, would go into a zip lock bag with my name on it until the next year. The weekend after Thanksgiving, the tree would go up, and I would take my bag of ornaments and hang them on the tree.

The year after I graduated and moved out, I showed up the weekend after Thanksgiving to find my ornaments already hanging on the tree. As an 18-year-old, I pitched a 5-year-old fit! My mother and I both learned that day how attached I was to that Christmas tradition.

Jesus is on record condemning certain man-made traditions in Mark 7:1-13 as they were contrary to the commandments of God. In Galatians 1:14, Paul describes Jewish teaching and practice as the "traditions of my fathers." In Colossians 2:8 He warns of empty "human tradition" that takes them captive. In other words, not all traditions are good nor bad. After all, Paul describes the gospel as a tradition in 2 Thessalonians employing the church to "hold firm" to that tradition.

Traditions are as old as history, but I want to encourage you to evaluate yours this holiday season. Ask, "does this tradition honor the Lord?" Even if the answer is no, it doesn't mean you have to abandon the tradition necessarily. Perhaps you can find a way to insert Jesus Christ in the middle of it.

While looking at lights remind others that Jesus is the truth light. While opening gifts, remind others that Jesus gives the greatest gift, the gift of salvation. If there is no room for Jesus in your current traditions, there is no better time to start a new tradition that features Him.

Just so you know, they removed my ornaments so that I could put them on myself that year and every year until I had a family of my own.

Seeing Angels and Seeking Signs

Many people testify they have experienced the presence of so-called guardian angels. Some even claim to have video proof! An internet search for "angel appearances," etc. will result in numerous hits. One video shows a figure with glowing hands appearing from nowhere to rescue a bicyclist who was hit broadside in an intersection by a truck. Immediately after the apparent collision, the figure and the victim disappear from the point of impact, only to be seen several yards away with the crash victim getting off a stretcher and limping to the curb. The figure that helped him is walking away. Another site tells the story of a Christian man who survived a "10,000 pound truck axle" that crushed him while two angels came to his aid to save his life. He experienced what is said to be a "miraculous recovery." Of course, it is possible for digital footage to be faked.

Yet, however, we explain such matters, numerous Biblical passages confirm angelic appearances.

In Gideon's case, the angel's presence gave him the needed courage to go into battle for the Lord. Does that mean it's wise to anticipate or even request a visit of an angel? There is no indication that Gideon did either! For those today seeking angelic visitation as a sign of some kind, the words of Jesus serve to remind that "a wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign," but the only sign He offered the people was the sign of Jonah (Matthew 16:4). Our faith is strengthened by the ever-present reality of the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit, not by a once-in-a-lifetime visit by an angel. - C.R.B.

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

We sat down to work on a list of Christmas presents for the grandchildren over the weekend and for once didn't hear my billfold make an aching sound as the list grew longer. I will admit there will be things added to the list over the days to come, but for now we are off to a good start and have things on it that they both will enjoy. Keep your fingers crossed!

For what it is worth....

 After 13 record setting weeks the Elba Tigers saw their trek toward a state championship end on a soggy football field in Leroy. The Tigers brought the whole town back together during their long winning streak, as was evident by the large number of fans that made the long road trips the last two weeks to Maplesville and Leroy, and it was a fun ride for everyone involved. By now all Elba fans have already relived the game numerous times, moaned about the failure to put points on the scoreboard on four scoring opportunities in the first half, and probably pointed fingers and blame at a lot of folks for the loss. I agree that from my seat in the pressbox there may have been some things that happened that I didn't understand. However, I prefer to look back at the season as a whole, and despite the disappointing outcome in final game, it was quite a ride.

 The 'Super 7' football championships will be played this week in Tuscaloosa and it should be quite a week with nine of the fourteen teams boasting perfect records. Four-time defending 7A champ Thompson heads the list of prep powers making the trip, while Leroy will be looking to go back-to-back in 1A, Fyffe is back as always in 2A, two private schools from two of the state's largest cities (Mobile Christian and Madison Academy) will battle in 3A, Montgomery Catholic is back and still looking for a title in 4A, Gulf Shores will try to cap off an unbeaten season in 5A, and Saraland will face Clay-Chalkville in a meeting of 6A powers. It looks like quite a week of action for all high school fans.

 The high school basketball season is rolling along and locally it continues to be a fun start for many of the teams in the area. On the boys side, Zion Chapel lost its first game of the season, but is still a team filled with enthusiasm that plays hard every second, while Kinston is getting better every time it takes the court and New Brockton has shown flashes of being a really good team. Over with the girls, Kinston and New Brockton are both off to fast starts and have their fans excited about what is to come, and Zion Chapel is working hard to get better and will no doubt settle in before long and give its fans something to cheer about.

 It was a very good week for the two college teams in the state that competed in conference championship games as Alabama knocked off Georgia and Troy broke loose late to clobber App State. The Crimson Tide continued to amaze their fans as they won their ninth straight game to win their seventh SEC title in ten years, and the Trojans made it two straight Sun Belt titles and made it clear they are a mid-major power.

 Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator hit on 10 of 13 playoff picks last week as he continued one of his best seasons ever. He was still shaking his head about Elba's loss to Leroy in the 1A semi's, but bragged about Alabama and Troy winning conference titles, and then left his final picks of the season. Here goes.... (7A) Central PC 24 Thompson 17, (6A) Saraland 31 Clay-Chalkville 21, (5A) Gulf Shores 35 Ramsay 32, (4A) Cherokee County 21 Montgomery Catholic 20, (3A) Mobile Christian 35 Madison Academy 14, (2A) Fyffe 28 Reeltown 20, (1A) Leroy 21 Coosa Christian 14.

Here is to hoping the gridiron guesspert will make plans to be back next season for even more fun.

Elba ousted in semifinal loss to Leroy 27-24

The Elba Tigers saw their dreams of a state championship turn into a nightmare with only 56-seconds left on the clock Friday night in a heartbreaking 27-24 semifinal loss to the defending state champion Leroy Bears, at Leroy.

Elba wasted an early scoring opportunity after reaching a first down at the Leroy 16-yardline on its initial possession, but Leroy wasted little time getting on the scoreboard as on its fourth play from scrimmage Brayden Huebner connected with Taylor Crumedy on a crossing route that went for 62 yards and a Bears touchdown. The extra-point sailed wide; however, with 5:45 remaining in the first quarter Leroy was already on top 6-0.

Elba reached a first down at the Leroy 39-yardline on its ensuing possession only to again come away empty-handed after being stopped on a fourth down, but the Tigers regained possession at their own 10-yardline after a punt and went 90 yards in 10 plays to grab the lead.

A 58-yard halfback pass from Alvin Henderson to Collin Arnold was a key play in the long scoring drive, while Henderson also rushed for 20 yards on seven carries and crossed the goal line on a 1-yard run. Alex Wisecup kicked the extra-point to put Elba on top 7-6 with 7:22 left in the second quarter.

Leroy began its ensuing possession at its own 20-yardline and answered the Tiger touchdown as it went 80 yards in 12 plays to regain the lead. Malik Howell rushed for 34 yards on four carries to lead the Bears down the field, while the score came on a 12-yard touchdown toss from Huebner to Crumedy. Rob Moseley kicked the extra-point, and with 2:06 left in the half the Bears were on top 13-7.

Elba quickly moved down the field on its ensuing possession as Alvin Henderson rushed for 37 yards on two carries to set the Tigers up at the Leroy 26-yardline. However, the scoring threat failed to produce points when on second down a pass was picked off in the endzone.

Leroy was 80 yards from the endzone with only 57 seconds left on the clock, but raced down the field with time to spare as Huebner lofted a deep pass down the sidelines that was hauled in by Crumedy, who outran an Elba defender for an 88-yard touchdown play. Moseley added the extra-point as the Bears lead grew to 20-7 with 29-seconds still left on the clock.

A 45-yard kickoff return by Alvin Henderson gave the Tigers a last-second scoring opportunity at the Leroy 27-yardline, but Elba again failed to cash in the scoring chance and at the half went in trailing 20-7.

Elba got a big break on the opening kickoff of the second half when the Tigers recovered a fumble at the Leroy 35-yardline, and this time the Tigers cashed in the opportunity when on second down Alvin Henderson turned the corner and raced 31-yards for a touchdown. Wisecup kicked the extra-point, and with 11:12 left in the third quarter Elba had pulled within 20-14.

Elba's Emmanuel Cooks recovered a Leroy fumble at its own 11-yardline to escape a Bears scoring threat, and the Tigers stung the Bears on the third play of the possession when Alvin Henderson broke a tackle, hit the sidelines and raced 86 yards for a touchdown. Wisecup's extra-point was true, and with 4:41 left in the quarter the Tigers were back on top 21-20.

Elba's Jacob Watkins recovered yet another Leroy fumble on the ensuing kickoff to set the Tigers up near midfield, but the Tigers failed to cash in the turnover and punted still clinging to the 21-20 advantage.

The game's next three possessions all ended in punts, with Elba putting the ball in play at its own 39-yardline with 5:54 remaining in the fourth quarter. Elba moved to two quick first downs on runs of 16 and 22 yards by Henderson and reached a first down at the Leroy 19-yardline, only to be set back on a penalty flag that left the Tigers facing a second down and 17 back at the Leroy 27. Henderson helped move the ball to the Leroy 14 on two hard runs to leave the Tigers facing a fourth down and four, but the Tigers were again flagged for a penalty, and Alex Wisecup came in and kicked a 35-yard field-goal with 1:33 remaining to up the Elba lead to 24-20.

Leroy began its ensuing possession at the Elba 48-yardline after a short kickoff went out of bounds, and the Bears took advantage of the short field to go 48 yards in five plays to steal the win. The score came on a 24-yard pass from Huebner to Joshua Reed, and Moseley added the extra-point as Leroy went on top 27-24 with 56-seconds remaining.

Elba began its final possession of the season at its own 37-yardline and moved across midfield on its initial play from scrimmage, but the ball was knocked loose from the Tiger runner and the Bears recovered to seal the 27-24 win.

Alvin Henderson rushed for 316 yards and 3 touchdowns on 31 carries, completed a pass from 58 yards and returned a kickoff 45 yards to lead the Tigers, while Cayden Adkins rushed for 63 yards on 10 carries.

Brayden Huebner rushed for 44 yards on five carries and completed 12 of 24 passes for 256 yards and 4 touchdowns to lead Leroy, with Taylor Crumedy pulling in 7 passes for 202 yards and 3 td's.
